

Prompt given to the models:

Generate a one sentence alt text for this image.

| Image                                                                             | LLaVA              | LLaVA score | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                                                                   | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                              | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------|-------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
|  | A pile of seaweed. | 1           | A close-up view of a rocky intertidal zone shows dark brown and reddish seaweeds covering wet rocks, with a prominent central cluster of branching algae featuring small, oval air bladders. | 1                | Long, dark strands of seaweed with small pods grow over wet rocks and smooth grey stones on a rocky shoreline. | 1                       |

iNaturalist

| Image                                                                              | LLaVA                                         | LLaVA score                                              | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                              | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                  | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
|   | Bird standing on wooden deck.                 | 1                                                        | A white and grey seagull with a yellow beak stands on a dark paved surface, looking down at a small tan starfish, with a wooden deck in the background. | 1                | A seagull stands on a weathered wooden deck next to a small, dried starfish.                                       | 1                       |
|  | A red fish with an eyeball missing, in water. | 0Fish is golden with a leech, not a red eyeless fish | A golden-brown fish with a dark, C-shaped leech attached to its side rests in shallow water against a white background.                                 | 1                | A side view of a golden-brown fish lying on a white surface with a dark, worm-like parasite attached to its flank. | 1                       |

| Image                                                                               | LLaVA                                                                         | LLaVA score                                   | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                            | Gemini 2.5 score              | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                                                       | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
|    | A hand holding a seashell with a hole in the top center.                      | 1                                             | A person's fingers hold a small, textured brown and green object with a reddish, bubbly hollow interior.                                              | 1                             | A close-up of a person's fingers holding two small, textured brown objects, one of which is broken open to reveal a hollow interior with white residue. | 1                       |
|   | Snail on the ground by log.                                                   | 0It's a slug, not a snail                 | A dark-bodied snail with a pale, translucent shell is seen moving across rough, textured ground with scattered debris and green patches.              | 0Slug-bodied, not a snail | A glossy, dark brown slug-like creature with a small shell on its back crawls across a rough, textured rock surface.                                    | 1                       |
|  | A large, brown and white striped fish is seen in the ocean with a coral reef. | 0Anemone/sea creature, not a striped fish | A large, pale fish with a dark head and prominent eye is partially obscured by a textured, orange sea anemone with pale tentacles on the ocean floor. | 1                             | Empty alt text                                                                                                                                          | 0                       |

| Image                                                                                                              | LLaVA                                                | LLaVA score                                   | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                                      | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                   | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score                    |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| iNaturalist   | An image of a shell on the ground.                   | 0It's a flatworm on a slug, not a shell   | A shiny black flatworm is coiled around and preying on a mottled brown slug, resting on a wet, granular surface with green patches.                             | 1                | A close-up of a glistening, dark slug with a mottled brown body crawling on a wet, grainy surface.  | 0Missed the black flatworm on the slug |
| iNaturalist  | A bee is resting on the leaf of a plant.             | 0It's a fly/moth-like insect, not a bee   | A fuzzy, light-bodied insect with dark-veined wings is seen clinging to the underside of a brightly backlit, translucent green leaf, its veins clearly visible. | 1                | A close-up of a fuzzy insect with patterned wings and a tan abdomen resting on a bright green leaf. | 1                                          |
| iNaturalist | A close-up of a red piece of trash on the shoreline. | 0It's a shell on the shore, not red trash | A partial view of a bird wading in reflective blue water on a tidal flat, near a reddish-brown seashell standing upright in the shallow sand.                   | 1                | A reddish-brown seashell rests in shallow water on wet sand near the leg of a standing bird.        | 1                                          |

| Image                                                                                                                 | LLaVA                                                                      | LLaVA score                                              | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                                         | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                             | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
|  iNaturalist  | This is an underwater photograph of a coral reef.                          | 0Nudibranch on sea squirts, not a coral reef  | A frilly white and brown nudibranch rests on a white colonial tunicate covered in numerous orange-rimmed openings, against a blurry green underwater background.   | 1                | A white nudibranch with brown markings crawls across a cluster of translucent colonial ascidians with bright orange rims.     | 1                       |
|  iNaturalist  | This is an image of a caterpillar.                                         | 0It's a millipede, not a caterpillar          | A pale, segmented millipede with many visible legs is tightly coiled around a sprig of green foliage, contrasting with a dark, blurry background.                  | 1                | A close-up view of a pale, segmented millipede curled around the tip of a green plant branch against a dark background.       | 1                       |
|  iNaturalist | Analyzing microscope slide with crystalline structure and circular shapes. | 0Rock/mineral surface, not a microscope slide | A macro shot reveals a rough, earthy surface with intricate textures, small holes, delicate webs, and shimmering iridescent reflections of blue, purple, and gold. | 1                | A close-up macro shot of a rough, textured rock surface featuring earthy brown and gray tones with a small, dark indentation. | 1                       |

| Image                                                                                                                  | LLaVA                                                                                           | LLaVA score | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                          | Gemini 2.5 score                           | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                   | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
|  iNaturalist   | This is a sea bird with its mouth open, displaying its long purple tongue to eat the shellfish. | 1           | A grey gull with its beak wide open is in the process of swallowing a large, bumpy purple starfish.                                                 | 0Holding, not swallowing, the starfish | A close-up view of a juvenile gull holding a purple starfish in its open beak.                      | 1                       |
|  iNaturalist   | "A brown butterfly on red stems."                                                               | 1           | A vivid orange-red slug-like creature is wrapped around a brown moth on a green stem, appearing to consume it, against a blurry natural background. | 1                                          | 0Empty alt text                                                                                 |                         |
|  iNaturalist  | A leaf on the ground with grass and dirt around it.                                             | 1           | A dark, segmented centipede crawls across a mossy forest floor, surrounded by vibrant green grass and scattered fallen leaves.                      | 1                                          | A reddish-brown centipede crawls across mossy ground amidst green grass blades and fallen leaves.   | 1                       |
|  iNaturalist | The close-up photo of the green leaf with small insects and white spots on it.                  | 1           | A macro shot of a green leaf showing multiple light-colored, raised structures, including a prominent circular gall with a central opening.         | 1                                          | A close-up view of a green leaf surface featuring several small, raised, pale white galls or bumps. | 1                       |

| Image                                                                             | LLaVA                                                                                         | LLaVA score | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                                                               | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                                                | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
|   | "Seashells and coins found on the beach, showcasing natural beauty and financial exchange."   | 1           | A small pile of light blue and dark shell fragments rests on coarse sand, with a 2019 U.S. penny in the upper right for scale.                                                           | 1                | A pile of small, broken seashells rests on coarse sand next to a penny for scale.                                                                | 1                       |
|  | A close-up of a plant with brown branches and green leaves, set against a blurred background. | 1           | A close-up shows a rough, brown growth on a woody branch at the point where several smaller branches diverge, with blurred green and yellow leaves and natural debris in the background. | 1                | A close-up view of a rough, brown gall growing on the intersection of thin tree branches, surrounded by green leaves and a blurred forest floor. | 1                       |

iNaturalist

iNaturalist

| Image                                                                                                              | LLaVA                                                                                                                              | LLaVA score                                               | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                     | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                            | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score                  |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|
| iNaturalist   | Close-up of an object with yellow and green areas on the right side, possibly indicating pollen or some kind of chemical reaction. | 1                                                         | A macro photo shows a green leaf speckled with numerous small, textured orange fungal growths.                                 | 1                | A close-up view of a green leaf covered in small, raised orange pustules characteristic of rust fungus.                      | 1                                        |
| iNaturalist   | An exotic bird with long beak is swimming in the ocean.                                                                            | 0Eider duck with a short beak, not a long-beaked bird | A male common eider duck floats on dark water, holding a reddish-brown sea urchin in its open beak.                            | 1                | A male Bufflehead duck with black and white plumage floats on choppy grey water, holding a reddish-brown object in its beak. | 0Misidentifies eider as a bufflehead |
| iNaturalist | Blueberries growing on branches in the photo.                                                                                      | 0Juniper berries and galls, not blueberries           | A close-up shows a juniper branch with green foliage, several dusty blue berries, and two distinct, lumpy reddish-brown galls. | 1                | A close-up of a juniper branch featuring bright green foliage, small blue berries, and large, textured brown galls.          | 1                                        |

| Image                                                                                                             | LLaVA                              | LLaVA score | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                                                            | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                                                           | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------|-------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| iNaturalist  | A creepy crawly on a gray surface. | 1           | A close-up shows an orange ladybug with black markings on its head, standing over a light-colored, fuzzy parasitic wasp cocoon attached beneath its body, on a textured gray surface. | 1                | A close-up of an orange ladybug with black spots clinging to a smooth grey surface near a vertical seam, holding a small, fuzzy brown object with its legs. | 1                       |
| iNaturalist  | Leaf with green and yellow spots.  | 1           | A close-up of green leaves covered in numerous dark brown spots and browning edges, set against a blurred background of autumn foliage.                                               | 1                | A close-up of broad, yellow-green leaves covered in dark brown spots and decaying edges.                                                                    | 1                       |
| iNaturalist | Dead leaf with brown spots on it.  | 1           | A close-up of a yellow autumn leaf with a large, irregular black patch that has a distinct bumpy texture, typical of tar spot disease.                                                | 1                | A close-up of a yellowing leaf featuring a large, dark black spot of decay or fungal growth.                                                                | 1                       |

| Image                                                                                                                  | LLaVA                                                                                                                                                                                      | LLaVA score                                                   | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                                                | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                                    | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
|  iNaturalist   | An aquatic fish with unique green and gold scales.                                                                                                                                  | 0 Fish among anemone tentacles, not just scales | A small, iridescent silvery-green fish is caught within the translucent, ring-like tentacles of a sea anemone against a murky, brown underwater background.        | 1         | A small, silvery fish rests among the translucent, striped tentacles of a sea anemone attached to a rocky underwater surface. | 1                |
|  iNaturalist   | This is a close-up photograph of plant leaves with spots and speckles, likely affected by some form of fungal or bacterial disease, set against a blurred background of vegetation. | 1                                                      | A close-up shows a green leaf with yellowed edges and many small dark brown spots, surrounded by blurred green and yellow leaves.                                  | 1         | A close-up view of a green leaf that is yellowing and covered in numerous dark brown spots.                                   | 1                |
|  iNaturalist  | Mushroom growing on tree stump in forest.                                                                                                                                           | 0 Slug on mushroom in moss, no tree stump       | A vibrant yellow slug with visible eyestalks crawls over a light brown mushroom cap, which has a small dark twig resting on it, all surrounded by lush green moss. | 1         | A bright yellow slug crawls across the wet, tan cap of a mushroom surrounded by green moss.                                   | 1                |
|  iNaturalist | A dead crayfish on the ground with red ants.                                                                                                                                        | 0 Slug on a dead newt, not a crayfish with ants | An olive-brown slug feeds on a dead reddish-brown newt lying on sandy, gravelly ground.                                                                            | 1         | A large, spotted slug crawls over the body of a deceased newt on a grey concrete surface.                                     | 1                |

| Image                                                                                                            | LLaVA                                                         | LLaVA score                               | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                                                     | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                                                     | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score                  |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------|
| iNaturalist | This is an image of moss on a rock in nature.                 | 0Colorful lichens, not moss on a rock | A detailed macro view shows vibrant yellow granular lichen, white crusty lichen, and light green lobed lichen with cup-like structures, growing closely together on a surface. | 1                | A close-up view of textured lichen featuring patches of crusty white, bright yellow granules, and pale green structures with small circular openings. | 1                                        |
| iNaturalist | "A close-up photograph of an octopus in its natural habitat." | 0Anemone and snail, not an octopus    | A translucent moon snail with an expansive white foot is seen next to a pale, frilly sea anemone, surrounded by pink branching coral and dark kelp on the ocean floor.         | 1                | A close-up underwater shot of a pale, translucent nudibranch with feathery white appendages crawling over pink branching seaweed.                     | 0Snail misidentified as a nudibranch |

| Image                                                                                                                 | LLaVA                                               | LLaVA score                             | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                        | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                    | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score                   |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|
|  iNaturalist  | Small plant life on decaying wood.                  | 1                                       | A macro shot reveals several tiny fungi with slender dark stalks and small light brown caps emerging from a textured, dried plant surface.        | 1                | Close-up of tiny, delicate fungi with thin reddish stems and small yellow-orange caps growing on a textured surface. | 1                                         |
|  iNaturalist | This is an image of a small worm with lots of eyes. | 0Sea cucumber/worm, no visible eyes | A dark, reflective sea cucumber, featuring a distinct bulge, rests partially submerged in shallow water over light-colored rocks and green algae. | 1                | A close-up of a shiny, dark brown marine worm resting on a textured, light-colored rocky surface.                    | 0Sea cucumber misidentified as a worm |

| Image                                                                                                              | LLaVA                                                                                                                     | LLaVA score                               | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                                                                                 | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                                                             | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score                     |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|
| iNaturalist   | This is a photo of coral-like growth on a rock.                                                                           | 1                                         | A detailed close-up reveals intricate patterns of dark, cup-shaped lichens with pale rims, intertwined with light green leafy lichens and vibrant pink patches, all growing densely on textured tree bark. | 1                | A close-up of a rock surface densely covered in pale grey and green lichen, featuring numerous small, dark brown cup-like structures with light-colored rims. | 0Substrate is tree bark, not rock       |
| iNaturalist  | A close-up photo of an intriguing, rusted piece of metal with jagged edges in the foreground of a dark, damp environment. | 0Subject is animals, not rusted metal | Multiple dark velvet worms with orange spots and stubby legs crawl among reddish-brown leaf litter and organic debris.                                                                                     | 1                | Three dark, orange-spotted slugs crawl across damp, reddish-brown decaying wood and fibrous debris.                                                           | 0Velvet worms misidentified as slugs    |
| iNaturalist | Red and white shell with pinkish interior, half-opened, underwater.                                                       | 0Sea snail, not a bivalve shell       | A large sea snail with a patterned brown and tan shell, revealing a reddish body, operculum, and striped foot, rests on a sandy seabed.                                                                    | 1                | A large, patterned seashell rests on the sandy seabed with a bright red worm visible inside its opening.                                                      | 0Snail body misidentified as a red worm |

| Image                                                                                                              | LLaVA                                                                               | LLaVA score                             | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                                             | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                                         | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| iNaturalist   | Bird stands on rocks in front of water.                                             | 1                                       | A black oystercatcher with a bright red beak and pink legs stands on a rocky shore among purple sea anemones, sea urchins, and various seaweeds.                       | 1                | A black oystercatcher with a bright red beak stands on a rocky shore scattered with purple sea urchins.                                   | 1                       |
| iNaturalist   | Leaf being held up, showing leaf with spots and holes.                              | 1                                       | A person's hand holds a green leaf covered in numerous reddish-brown spots, with a slender stem and small buds visible on the right against a blurry green background. | 1                | A hand holds a green leaf that is covered in small brown spots.                                                                           | 1                       |
| iNaturalist  | An individual holding a leaf in their hand.                                         | 1                                       | A person's hand holds a green leaf covered in white, fuzzy patches of powdery mildew.                                                                                  | 1                | A close-up of a hand holding a green leaf with serrated edges that is covered in patches of white powdery mildew and brown discoloration. | 1                       |
| iNaturalist | A hand holding an herbaceous plant leaf with several holes and a light green color. | 0No holes; multiple leaves, not one | A hand gently holds a green leaf with a textured surface and serrated edges, surrounded by other blurry green foliage.                                                 | 1                | A close-up shot shows a hand holding several textured green leaves with serrated edges.                                                   | 1                       |

| Image                                                                                                             | LLaVA                                                                                                                                            | LLaVA score                                    | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                       | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                           | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| iNaturalist  | Snail on the ground.                                                                                                                             | 1                                              | A glistening grey snail with an extended body and brown shell crawls across a wet green leaf.                                    | 1                | A close-up of a snail with a glistening pale body and brown shell crawling along the edge of a textured green leaf.         | 1                       |
| iNaturalist  | A photograph of a dark colored shell with ridged edges, placed on sandy surface.                                                                 | 1                                              | A large, elongated bivalve shell, half light brown and half dark, shiny black, rests on wet, dark sand with small water bubbles. | 1                | A large, oblong razor clam shell with distinctive tan and dark blue coloring rests on wet, gray sand near the water's edge. | 1                       |
| iNaturalist | An anglerfish is shown with seaweed in its mouth, surrounded by bubbles that resemble the underwater environment where such creatures are found. | 0Gull eating a starfish, not an anglerfish | A white seagull is consuming a large brown starfish, with several of the starfish's arms still visible outside its yellow beak.  | 1                | A close-up of a white seagull holding a large, spiky starfish in its open yellow beak.                                      | 1                       |

| Image                                                                              | LLaVA                                              | LLaVA score                                        | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                                          | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                                                     | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
|   | This is an image of a plant.                | 0 Too vague; it's a vivid red flower | A close-up shot captures the vibrant fuchsia, brush-like filaments of a flower head in sharp focus against a soft, blurred background.                       | 1         | A vibrant close-up of a red flower head featuring intricate, thread-like filaments radiating outward against a soft, blurred green background. | 1                |
|  | Small green bush on sidewalk in urban area. | 1                                           | A small, green shrub with numerous buds grows alongside a cracked asphalt road and a concrete sidewalk with a yellow line, beneath a larger evergreen plant. | 1         | A leafy green plant with dried buds grows along the edge of a concrete sidewalk next to a yellow painted line and a larger evergreen shrub.    | 1                |

| Image                                                                                                            | LLaVA                                                                                                                                            | LLaVA score | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                            | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                               | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score                    |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------|
| iNaturalist | This is a picture of a snail underwater.                                                                                                         | 1           | A yellow and black spotted snail with a dark, fleshy body emerging from its shell is seen underwater in murky, sandy conditions, with a stick nearby. | 1                | A close-up underwater shot captures a large, tan worm with black spots coiled on a murky, sandy bottom next to a piece of wood. | 0Spotted snail misidentified as a worm |
| iNaturalist | A photograph of a small wild plant with leaves and a stem, positioned on a bed of soil and plants with a dark background highlighting the plant. | 1           | A close-up shot shows a leafy green plant whose foliage is heavily speckled with dark brown to black spots, indicating a common plant disease.        | 1                | A leafy green shrub growing in a natural setting has foliage that is heavily covered in dark, speckled spots.                   | 1                                          |

| Image                                                                                                            | LLaVA                                                                   | LLaVA score | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                                | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                          | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| iNaturalist | Hand holding a leaf with spots, against a blurred background of plants. | 1           | A hand wearing a gold ring holds up a green leaf heavily covered in dark brown spots and with torn edges, against a blurry background of similar foliage. | 1                | A close-up view of a person's open hand holding a green leaf that is covered in numerous dark brown spots. | 1                       |
| iNaturalist | A butterfly resting on yellow flowers in the sunny outdoors.            | 1           | A small brown and orange butterfly is perched on bright yellow flowers surrounded by green leaves.                                                        | 1                | A small, orange-brown skipper butterfly rests on a bright yellow flower surrounded by green leaves.        | 1                       |

| Image                                                                                                             | LLaVA                                                  | LLaVA score | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                     | Gemini 2.5 score                            | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                               | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------|-------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| iNaturalist  | A butterfly on a fence with flowers in the background. | 1           | An orange butterfly is perched on vibrant purple flowers against a blurred green background.                                                   | 1                                           | An orange skipper butterfly perches on a cluster of purple wildflowers against a backdrop of tall green grass and a wire fence. | 1                       |
| iNaturalist | The creepy looking insect in the water.                | 1           | A brown water strider with long, thin legs floats on the water's surface, holding a smaller, lighter-colored insect as prey in its front legs. | 0Two mating striders, not one with prey | Two water striders with long, thin legs are floating on the surface of the water.                                               | 1                       |

| Image                                                                                                             | LLaVA                                                     | LLaVA score                            | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                              | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                                     | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| iNaturalist  | A small reddish seed pod attached to the end of a branch. | 1                                      | A close-up shows a large, fluffy, reddish-brown gall on a thorny branch, with a blurred background of green hills, trees, and blue sky. | 1                | A close-up of a fuzzy, brown, mossy cluster hanging from a thin, thorny branch against a blurred background of green hills and trees. | 1                       |
| iNaturalist | A frog with big eyes sitting in the middle of the road.   | 0Frog on gravel ground, not a road | A wet, brown frog with dark markings sits on a bed of gravel and small rocks, surrounded by green grass blades and dry debris.          | 1                | A small brown frog with dark stripes rests on a bed of grey rocks and scattered blades of grass.                                      | 1                       |

| Image                                                                                                             | LLaVA                                                    | LLaVA score                                   | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                       | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                                            | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| iNaturalist  | This is a picture of a bird.                             | 1                                             | A brown and white hawk with a sharp yellow eye and a reddish mark on its hooked beak is perched against a rough tree trunk, looking to the left. | 1                | A close-up of a brown and white hawk standing next to a rough tree trunk, looking to the left with a yellow eye.                             | 1                       |
| iNaturalist  | Young eagle perched on branch.                           | 0Bird eating a squirrel, not just perched | A hawk with yellowish talons firmly grips a bloody squirrel, its prey, on a moss-covered tree branch.                                            | 1                | A hawk perched on a mossy tree branch grips a captured squirrel with its yellow talons.                                                      | 1                       |
| iNaturalist | A hawk perched on the ground, possibly injured or tired. | 1                                             | A brown and white hawk stands on green grass, its beak and talons covered in blood as it consumes its prey.                                      | 1                | A brown and white streaked hawk stands on a grassy surface eating prey, with blood visible on its beak and scattered feathers on the ground. | 1                       |

| Image                                                                                                           | LLaVA                                                   | LLaVA score                                        | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                      | Gemini 2.5 score                  | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                               | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| iNaturalist | Woodpecker pecking at dead wood.                        | 0Not a woodpecker; bird eating prey in foliage | A brown bird with a spiky reddish-brown crest stands in green bushes, holding a large crab in its beak.                                         | 0No crab; holds a dark insect | A brown and white bird with a reddish head stands in sunlit green vegetation holding a dark object in its beak. | 1                       |
| iNaturalist | A close-up photo of a leaf with insect eggs and larvae. | 0White mealybugs, not eggs and larvae          | A close-up of a textured green leaf featuring several white, irregular clusters, resembling mealybugs or scale insects, among scattered debris. | 1                                 | A close-up view of a textured green leaf featuring clusters of small, white, cottony insects along its veins.   | 1                       |

| Image                                                                                                                 | LLaVA                                                 | LLaVA score                                        | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                                             | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                                    | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
|  iNaturalist  | Aphid on a leaf with honeydew crystals.               | 1                                                  | An adult whitefly with translucent wings rests on a textured green leaf, surrounded by white waxy filaments and several smaller whitefly nymphs.                       | 1                | A close-up view of a small, pale insect with translucent wings resting on a textured green leaf surrounded by white, waxy filaments. | 1                       |
|  iNaturalist | Small insect on a green leaf with a white background. | 0Scale insect; background is a leaf, not white | A close-up view reveals a black scale insect with a white, waxy fringe and a tiny pink leg, positioned on a vibrant green leaf exhibiting a detailed network of veins. | 1                | A close-up of a small, round insect with a shiny black center and a white, fuzzy border resting on a textured green leaf.            | 1                       |

| Image                                                                                                              | LLaVA                                                                                                                                    | LLaVA score                     | Gemini 2.5                                                                                                                                                      | Gemini 2.5 score              | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                                                   | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------------------|
| iNaturalist   | A close-up photo of a purple flowering in a garden setting, with the focus on the vibrant petals and some insects visible on the leaves. | 1                               | A close-up shot captures a bee resting on a green leaf next to several vibrant purple flowers.                                                                  | 1                             | A bee hovers near green leaves next to a cluster of bright purple flowers.                                          | 1                       |
| iNaturalist   | A bee is perched on top of a yellow flower with stamens, set against the backdrop of green foliage and plants.                           | 1                               | A fuzzy brown and black striped bee is seen from above, resting on a white flower with a bright yellow center, surrounded by green leaves and blurred branches. | 0Flower center miscolored | A close-up shot of a bee resting on the yellow center of a white flower surrounded by green leaves.                 | 1                       |
| iNaturalist | Crane standing on a gravel road.                                                                                                         | 0It's an egret, not a crane | A white egret stands on a gravel path, holding a dark creature in its beak, with green foliage and a white pole in the background.                              | 1                             | A white egret stands on a gravel path beside tall grass, holding a small dark animal in its beak near a metal post. | 1                       |

| Image                                                                                                                | LLaVA                                       | LLaVA score                                            | Gemini 2.5                                                                                 | Gemini 2.5 score | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B                                                                      | Qwen3.5-397B-A17B score                        |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------|
|  iNaturalist | Black and white bird sitting on the ground. | 0 Bufflehead on water, not on the ground | A male Bufflehead duck with a wide-open beak is swallowing a long fish while on the water. | 1                | A Barrow's Goldeneye swims on rippled water with its head tilted upward and beak open. | 0 Wrong species; misses the fish |